the first decades of the twentieth century witnessed an explosion of nationalist sentiment in east asia as in europe this comprehensive work explores how radical chinese and japanese thinkers committed to social change in this turbulent era addressed issues concerning national identity social revolution and the role of the national state in achieving socio economic development focusing on the adaptation of anarchism and then marxism leninism to non european contexts germaine hoston shows how chinese and japanese theorists attempted to reconcile a relatively new appreciation for the nation state with their allegiance to a vision of internationalist socialist revolution culminating in stateless socialism given the influence of western experience on marxism chinese and japanese theorists found the marxian national question to be not merely one of whether the working man has no country but rather the much more fundamental issue of the relative value of eastern and western cultures marxism argues hoston thus placed native marxists in tension with their own heritage and national identity the author traces efforts to resolve this tension throughout the first half of the twentieth century and concludes by examining how the tension persists as chinese and japanese dissidents seek identity affirming modernity in accordance with the western democratic model this volume examines the way in which various strands of left thought have addressed the national question the re emergence of debates on the decolonisation of knowledge has revived interest in the national question which began over a century ago and remains unresolved tensions that were suppressed and hidden in the past are now being openly debated despite this the goal of one united nation living prosperously under a constitutional democracy remains elusive this edited volume examines the way in which various strands of left thought have addressed the national question especially during the apartheid years and goes on to discuss its relevance for south africa today and in the future instead of imposing a particular understanding of the national question the editors identified a number of political traditions and allowed contributors the freedom to define the question as they believed appropriate in other words to explain what they thought was the unresolved national question this has resulted in a rich tapestry of interweaving perceptions the volume is structured in two parts the first examines four foundational traditions marxism leninism the colonialism of a special type thesis the congress tradition the trotskyist tradition and africanism the second part explores the various shifts in the debate from the 1960s onwards and includes chapters on afrikaner nationalism ethnic issues black consciousness feminism workerism and constitutionalism the editors hope that by revisiting the debates not popularly known among the scholarly mainstream this volume will become a catalyst for an enriched debate on our identity and our future apprendimento di ogni studente e la quantità dei contenuti che ha imparato assegnando ai due aspetti di valutazione un valore oggettivo partendo dall'esperienza di applicazione del metodo ai bambini in età scolare. L'autore dimostra come esso possa essere applicato anche a studenti delle università. Il testo è diviso in due parti: nella prima è illustrato il lavoro preliminare di ricerca seguito da un'esposizione più specifica del metodo e dei suoi principi teorici; la seconda parte ha un contenuto pratico nella quale sono indicati i criteri di valutazione dei test suddivisi nelle principali materie all'epoca studiate nei college americani. L'opera è il risultato del lavoro di ricerca sperimentale condotto dall'autore grazie al quale ha conseguito il suo secondo titolo accademico presso l'università della Columbia nel 1922.
